Overcome Market Competition With Technology and Intelligence

Increased power consumption, record energy demands, and significant fluctuations in electricity and natural gas prices make it more important than ever to use the most powerful tools in the industry when servicing customers in competitive markets. Nobody understands the consumer landscape for businesses and local governments – and the challenges of overcoming market competition – better than EMEX. That is why we have developed The Premier Channel Partner program in the industry; to provide firms with a solutions-focused energy procurement platform and Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system built from the ground up exclusively for energy brokerage. We are committed to helping you turn market challenges into new opportunities by offering compelling products that are easy to use, induce the lowest prices possible, and ultimately compel customers to transact. With the Reverse Auction platform, it is not just a question of improved efficiency, but the basic economics of a higher success rate.

Be the solution your customers and prospects need today.
Create market demand, increase price competitiveness, and grow your business.

Our Market Intelligence shows that there's an estimated worldwide market of more than 5,000 Energy Brokers servicing the deregulated states. To help address the competitive market with select energy firms, we launched the EMEX Channel Partner Program in January 2013, and our partners are already seeing the clear benefits of using cutting-edge technology.

Our industry-leading Reverse Auction platform and unparalleled analysis expertise facilitates two-way conversations on optimizing procurement opportunities. Channel Partners sell across all business and public sector demographics: small and large commercial and industrial accounts, non-profit organizations, and educational institutions, as well as government agencies.

Partners who collaborate with EMEX stand out from their competition in the marketplace through a superior platform with superior pricing, all while highlighting the value of Their Firm.

Your Brand. Your Business.
Our Technology.

The growing market means result-driven partners need an edge

The EMEX Channel Partner Program principally targets established brokers with a book of business, plus other firms in industries such as Engineering, Architecture, and Telecom. By keeping the program as simple and flexible as possible, we have translated the complicated analysis of electricity and natural gas savings into an easy to understand format that any customer will find compelling, and that will give you the confidence to advise on procurement decisions using substantiated data.

Our program has everything you need to maximize your growth: industry-leading online technology; hands-on consultation from a fully staffed team of in-house EMEX analysts; and a comprehensive technical and operations support model developed by some of the most well-known and experienced veterans in the industry.

As a performance-driven company that does not charge any licensing or monthly fees, you control the value of the Reverse Auction platform — by the end of the first Reverse Auction, the process will have proven itself.

As new products and tools become available, your suite of service offerings is expanded to capitalize on additional opportunities to grow your Firm's presence and revenue.

- When you join the program, you are given access to your White Labeled Reverse Auction and Aggregation platform website to ensure a seamless presentation that can be easily incorporated into your current business model.
